RACI INORGANIC CHEMISTRY DIVISION CONFERENCE 2024

WESTERN SYDNEY UNIVERSITY

8 - 12 DECEMBER 2024

ABOUT IC'24

Inorganic Chemistry 24 (IC'24) represents the national meeting of the Inorganic Chemistry Division. It follows on from the previous meeting in Adelaide in 2023, which was incorporated into the International Conference on Bioinorganic Chemistry (ICBIC).

This marks the first standalone conference hosted by the Inorganic Division in several years and the first occasion this event is held in Western Sydney.

A diverse array of distinguished plenary speakers from various corners of the globe has been curated for IC'24, with a primary emphasis on providing platforms for emerging researchers to exhibit recent advancements across the broad spectrum of inorganic chemistry subfields.

The conference will spotlight exemplary contributions within Australian chemical sciences, encompassing fundamental research in inorganic chemistry, including catalysis, bioinorganic chemistry, porous coordination polymers, supramolecular chemistry, and organometallic chemistry.

We eagerly unveil our IC'24 agenda, designed to be inclusive and multifaceted, fostering collaboration among Australian and international chemical scientists who are propelling and reshaping the expansive domain of inorganic chemistry.

We expect over 220 attendees from academic and industrial backgrounds, comprising of early-career, mid-career, and senior research authorities, specialists in the field of inorganic chemistry, R&D professionals from the inorganic chemical industry and postgraduate students in chemistry.

The conference will be held at Western Sydney University, nestled in the picturesque locale of Parramatta, boasting a vibrant culinary and artistic landscape!

We look forward to welcoming you in December.
